Resist the temptation to join this blatant attempt to circumvent federal law for the 'recreational use of marijuana.'

The states do not have the right to overrule the federal government on this issue, because of the Controlled Substances Act (CSA) (21 U.S.C. § 811) which does not recognize the difference between medical and recreational use of marijuana. This recently passed state law will go down in flames when challenged by the federal courts. Payson should resist political pressure to appease those who allow pot to be grown in our neighborhoods and community.
